The law protects your right to breastfeed in public in Massachusetts.

Chapter 111, Section 221, MA General Laws:
"A mother may breastfeed her child in any public place or establishment or place which is open to and accepts or solicits the patronage of the general public and where the mother and her child may otherwise lawfully be present…A civil action may be brought under this section by a mother subjected to a violation...In any such action, the court may: award actual damages in an amount not to exceed $500; enter an order to restrain such unlawful conduct; and award reasonable attorney fees."

Pioneer Valley Breastfeeding Task Force
www.valleybreastfeeding.org

The law protects your right to breastfeed in public in Massachusetts.

Chapter 111, Section 221, MA General Laws:
"A mother may breastfeed her child in any public place or establishment or place which is open to and accepts or solicits the patronage of the general public and where the mother and her child may otherwise lawfully be present…A civil action may be brought under this section by a mother subjected to a violation...In any such action, the court may: award actual damages in an amount not to exceed $500; enter an order to restrain such unlawful conduct; and award reasonable attorney fees."

Pioneer Valley Breastfeeding Task Force
www.valleybreastfeeding.org

The law protects your right to breastfeed in public in Massachusetts.

Chapter 111, Section 221, MA General Laws:
"A mother may breastfeed her child in any public place or establishment or place which is open to and accepts or solicits the patronage of the general public and where the mother and her child may otherwise lawfully be present…A civil action may be brought under this section by a mother subjected to a violation...In any such action, the court may: award actual damages in an amount not to exceed $500; enter an order to restrain such unlawful conduct; and award reasonable attorney fees."

Pioneer Valley Breastfeeding Task Force
www.valleybreastfeeding.org

The law protects your right to breastfeed in public in Massachusetts.

Chapter 111, Section 221, MA General Laws:
"A mother may breastfeed her child in any public place or establishment or place which is open to and accepts or solicits the patronage of the general public and where the mother and her child may otherwise lawfully be present…A civil action may be brought under this section by a mother subjected to a violation...In any such action, the court may: award actual damages in an amount not to exceed $500; enter an order to restrain such unlawful conduct; and award reasonable attorney fees."

Pioneer Valley Breastfeeding Task Force
www.valleybreastfeeding.org

The law protects your right to breastfeed in public in Massachusetts.

Chapter 111, Section 221, MA General Laws:
"A mother may breastfeed her child in any public place or establishment or place which is open to and accepts or solicits the patronage of the general public and where the mother and her child may otherwise lawfully be present…A civil action may be brought under this section by a mother subjected to a violation...In any such action, the court may: award actual damages in an amount not to exceed $500; enter an order to restrain such unlawful conduct; and award reasonable attorney fees."

Pioneer Valley Breastfeeding Task Force
www.valleybreastfeeding.org

The law protects your right to breastfeed in public in Massachusetts.

Chapter 111, Section 221, MA General Laws:
"A mother may breastfeed her child in any public place or establishment or place which is open to and accepts or solicits the patronage of the general public and where the mother and her child may otherwise lawfully be present…A civil action may be brought under this section by a mother subjected to a violation...In any such action, the court may: award actual damages in an amount not to exceed $500; enter an order to restrain such unlawful conduct; and award reasonable attorney fees."

Pioneer Valley Breastfeeding Task Force
www.valleybreastfeeding.org

The law protects your right to breastfeed in public in Massachusetts.

Chapter 111, Section 221, MA General Laws:
"A mother may breastfeed her child in any public place or establishment or place which is open to and accepts or solicits the patronage of the general public and where the mother and her child may otherwise lawfully be present…A civil action may be brought under this section by a mother subjected to a violation...In any such action, the court may: award actual damages in an amount not to exceed $500; enter an order to restrain such unlawful conduct; and award reasonable attorney fees."

Pioneer Valley Breastfeeding Task Force
www.valleybreastfeeding.org

The law protects your right to breastfeed in public in Massachusetts.

Chapter 111, Section 221, MA General Laws:
"A mother may breastfeed her child in any public place or establishment or place which is open to and accepts or solicits the patronage of the general public and where the mother and her child may otherwise lawfully be present…A civil action may be brought under this section by a mother subjected to a violation...In any such action, the court may: award actual damages in an amount not to exceed $500; enter an order to restrain such unlawful conduct; and award reasonable attorney fees."

Pioneer Valley Breastfeeding Task Force
www.valleybreastfeeding.org